

Jeff Wallace graduated from Greenville High School in 1979 and continued his education at Westminster College earning a BA in Business Management. He attended multiple banking schools during his professional career, most notably the American Bankers Association - National Commercial Lending School at the University of Oklahoma.

He retired as Vice-President in Commercial Banking for First National Bank of Pennsylvania and is currently the Coordinator of the Shenango Valley Enterprise Zone Corporation.

Jeff serves on numerous boards throughout the region including St. Paul Homes; Pennsylvania Training Assurance Fund; Dietrich Foundation Greenville, PA Fund; Greenville Area School District Educational Foundation; Greenville High School Athletic Hall of Fame; and Greenville Lions Club. He also has been a longtime member of First Presbyterian Church, Greenville.

Jeff received the Distinguished Citizen Award from the French Creek Council - Boy Scouts of America in 2001; the Louis and Barbara Thiel Distinguished Service Award in 2003; and the prestigious Melvin Jones Fellow Award from the Lions Club International Foundation in 2023.

When he's not consumed with his career and board responsibilities, Jeff enjoys coaching basketball and golf at Thiel College. He appreciates the work of the Greenville Lions Club within the community, raising funds for distribution to local charities and service projects that benefit the community. He also participates in Christian Fitness Ministries Backpack Program providing food to children in need in the Greenville School District.

Jeff resides in Hempfield Township with his wife and fellow GHS graduate Brenda (Volpe) Wallace '82 who is a retired public health nurse. The Wallaces have two children - Hannah of Leesburg, VA and Ryan of Erie, PA – both of whom are proud graduates of GHS and Mercyhurst University. Prior to relocating to Virginia, Hannah worked in Pittsburgh as a Cytogeneticist with Allegheny Health Network, and Ryan is an orthopedic Physician's Assistant with Medical Associates of Erie.

Jeff believes that the GASD Educational Foundation has done solid work since it was established, and he has been heavily involved with getting the Greenville High School Athletic Hall of Fame (established and supported by the Foundation) up and running in his role as the inaugural chairman of the Hall of Fame Committee.
